

Atlas Copco

PATENT ATTORNEY

Antwerp, Belgium

Atlas Copco is a global leader and innovator, which has gone from strength to strength over the last 150 years. Constantly operating at the cutting edge, Atlas Copco impacts a diverse range of industries from Aerospace to Software, and Construction to Electronics.

Atlas Copco is eager to welcome a passionate professional at the beginning of their IP journey. Whether you're preparing to take your EQE in the next few years or have recently qualified as a European Patent Attorney, this is the perfect environment to build a successful career in IP, with ample support. This is an opportunity to:

Shape the Future with Innovative Technologies: At Atlas Copco, you'll be at the forefront of ground-breaking advancements, leveraging cutting-edge technologies to drive positive change. Join in their mission to create a more sustainable and brighter future for the planet, while working alongside industry leaders in a dynamic, forward-thinking environment.

Thrive in a Collaborative and Supportive Culture: At Atlas Copco, you'll be welcomed into a vibrant, team-oriented environment where collaboration and mutual support are at the core of everything we do. You'll have the opportunity to build meaningful connections, deepen your understanding of their diverse business groups, and play an essential role in their shared success.

Unlock Limitless Career Growth: Join the IP team where they're excited to welcome a motivated professional eager to shape their career in intellectual property. With abundant opportunities for learning and development, you'll be empowered to grow at your own pace, supported every step of the way by a dedicated team and a forward-thinking organization.

Atlas Copco is seeking a talented professional with a strong educational background in Chemical Engineering, Physics, Mechanical Engineering, or Electronics, coupled with a solid foundation in patent law. Your expertise will span the entire spectrum of patent matters, and as a key player within the organisation, you will serve as the vital link between business leaders, R&D teams, and other IP and legal colleagues, helping to drive innovation and strategic growth.
