

PATENT ATTORNEY

Copenhagen, Denmark

Guardian IP has been providing a unique, committed and passionate IP service to its clients for over a decade. The firm has grown significantly since its inception in 2010, with a team of around 30 highly experienced and specialised professionals currently in place. Although the firm retains its collaborative, value-driven ethos, Guardian IP has its sights set on an exciting and prosperous future. Now is the perfect time to jump on board! As the firm grows from strength to strength, the team must react and expand. As a result, Guardian IP is looking for an enthusiastic Patent Attorney who would like to join a boutique firm, where there is an opportunity to have impact on the business and its future. This is an opportunity to:

 Join a leading IP practice, one of Denmark's rising stars, where you will be supported and mentored by highly experienced colleagues and a diverse client portfolio respectively.

 Be part of supportive and collective culture where you are encouraged to grow and excel in your knowledge and work. This is a unique firm that values every employee, alongside the thoughts and ideas they suggest.

 Guardian IP's forward-thinking culture will allow you to make a genuine impact within a successful firm. The firm welcomes ideas and suggestions, and you will be given a platform to develop your career as you see fit. This is truly an opportunity to make your mark at an early stage in your career.

As Guardian IP is in an exciting position to expand across a range of technology fields, the firm would like to hear from Patent Attorneys with expertise in high technology fields including electronics, software, AI and quantum science. You may also come as a qualified European Patent Attorney, or working towards qualification. If you have an entrepreneurial passion, a dedication to your work, clients and colleagues, then Guardian IP would like to hear from you!
